Western Carolina Distributes 2007 Annual Report to Community

Greenville, S.C. (January 10, 2008) - As part of its public education program, Western Carolina Regional Sewer Authority released its "2007 Annual Report to the Community." This folded insert, which provides information on the organization, its financial status and its capital improvements program, is being distributed through local publications in the month of January.

In addition to the standard financial information, the 2007 Report includes new information such as recent partnerships with the Greenville County Recreation District. The report details specific ongoing projects, like the Pelham Mill and Corey Burns Park. A description of Western Carolina's continued efforts with collaborating satellites to improve service has also been included.

Western Carolina utilizes the annual report as an informative, yet cost-effective communication to the public, as the 2007 report was produced and distributed through various local publications for a minimal cost of less than $0.25 per piece. Any person who has not received the 2007 Annual Report may read and print the document by visiting Western Carolina's web site at www.wcrsa.org.
